To my Rushing and Washington family my sincere condolences and prayers are with you as you endure the loss of Toy. Weeping may endure for a night but joy will cometh in the morning. Your mornings may not be tomorrow, nor in a week or two, maybe not in a year. However rest assure that God will give you strenght and your joy will come again in the mist of your sorrow. Keep memories of Toy within your hearts and she will always be near. Stay strong in the word of God that will see each one of you through this difficult time. May God be with you always

Much love,
Melba Owens & Family
