“ Art and I were classmates through our entire public school life. He was always a bigger guy than I with a heart that was even bigger. We grew up in the Gilligans island era. I told him once that he reminded me of the Skipper and from that point forward he called me his little buddy. We both ended up in Oklahoma and when we first got together here I greeted him with how are you big boy he replied pretty good little buddy. It still makes me smile. I will miss him.

I'm very sorry to hear about Art's passing. As far back as I can remember my family would visit the Young family when they lived in Bremen. My sister and I would play outside with Bill, Jimmy, Deb, and Art. Those were good and fun times.
