“ I can not say enough to express accordingly who my grandfather was and what he meant to me. I can say I love him a great deal he always believed in his grand children and wanted the best for us, no matter what that may be. My pop-pop was a strong dedicated man who meant every word he ever said a value I will continue to admire. My greatest joy is he was able to see his great grandchildren my sons sparrow and scout, to see where his legacy continues. He was able to see me grow up to be a man I hope he was proud of and see the family he taught me a little bit about working so hard for. I am so thank full to have part of this amazing man as part of me and proud to call him my pop-pop and teach my boys as they get older who he was and what he did and what he meant to me. I'm so very thank full myself and my boys was able to tell him we loved him because he really needed to know. I only wish I could be there to tell him one more time Pop-Pop I love you.
