“ I met Johnny when I was a young boy in probably around 1973. Johnny was my Grandpa Elmer Kirk's hired hand on the farm just north of Longdale Oklahoma. Even though I was only 7, my brother and I would help my grandpa and Johnny was just part of the family. We would ride on the John Deere tractor when he was discing or planting wheat or baling or feeding cows. Johnny was like a uncle to us. Always happy and a good hand. My Grandpa passed away in 1992. I would see Johnny from time to time and told him if he needed anything give me a hollar. The last 3 years I saw Johnny pretty regular. He would call me and need some extra money to pay bills and I ended up buying two old antique tractors from him to help him out. He told me I could just leave them in his barn till I had time to come get them. Well Johnny I left them there hoping it would give you incentive to feel like you weren't losing things. You've always been special to our family. I'm gonna miss you buddy. Your friend, Curtis Turner
