“ Mom,

It has been almost a year, three weeks from tomorrow, that you were reunited with other family members and friends who had gone before you. We all miss you very much but are glad that you are not in any more pain or suffering. I think of you daily, see 222 quite often and have decided that in the winter time your bird is the red-headed woodpecker. The hummingbirds go south for the winter, and I wanted a reminder of you during the winter months. We have had a red-headed woodpecker at our bird feeders on almost a daily basis this year. I believe it has taken up residency.

Love you mom!

“ Mom we could not have asked for a better mother. We were all blessed with the most special mother of them all. Know you are dancing, singing, fishing, and doing all that is fun right now. See you in a few years but will speak to you daily. Hummingbirds have been flocking to the feeders, a daily reminder that you are near. Love you Momma! :)
