“ I treasure the day I met Katie. I am her son's birth mother. I found Eddie at his age of 29.

Katie and her family were having a family reunion, my mother and I were invited to meet Katie and her family. She was sweet as could be. Presenting me with a photo album of Eddies life. I think we were both terrified, It was emotional and wonderful.

Another memory, Katie flew out from Oklahoma for Brandon and Stephens graduations. The boys were still young. She looked so pretty and so proud of her grandsons.

We all went sitting in the sweltering sun, then spent the night at Eddies.

In the morning I wanted to make breakfast for Katie. I prayed to her thanking for being such a good mother for Eddie. That was so special for me to be able to thank her.

I made perfect basted eggs, bacon and toast. I couldn't believe how beautiful the eggs came out, it was so cute, she dug right into those perfect eggs, slicing them several times, oh those beautiful eggs...ha ha.

I assured Katie that she was Eddies mother forever and ever and not to worry, that I am in his life as his birth mother and friend. As I said above, she was sweet as could be.

It would have been great to be her friend.

Thanking God that I met Katie.
